- “But people have died!” Yes - indeed - and the usual average number of people dying per day is about 1300 in England & Wales.
- In the first 3 months of 2020, 10,048 less people died in England and Wales than in the first 3 months of 2018.
- The COVID-19 test is unreliable and most people already have some form of Coronavirus anyway!
- The method of recording causes of death was changed - in the USA and the UK - with many deaths inappropriately attributed to “COVID-19.” Some doctors are angry about this.
- Whilst ICU wards were busy, other wards and hospitals with no ICU’s are “quiet” and temporary hospitals stayed mostly empty!
- Countries with “lockdown” have had similar death rates to those without lockdown.
- Some doctors don’t agree that the measures are appropriate.
- COVID cases have only increased because more tests have been done, with some results counted more than once. More sickness or death has been caused by the measures than COVID—but are counted as COVID deaths.
- “Social Distancing” recommendations are based on numerical modelling, not experimental science. Masks in general public usage harm health and don’t really reduce infection risk.
- Conflicts of interest relating to the current situation exist within the UK Government and its advisors.
- The measures in place – and those proposed - contravene basic human rights such as:
 - Freedom of movement
 - Freedom of association
 - Right to protest
 - Informed Consent (to vaccination or similar procedures)
